CHAMPAIGN-URBANA

PRIDE FEST

UP CENTER OF CHAMPAIGN COUNTY

2023 PROGRAM
Welcome to Pride Fest 2023 loved ones!

I labored long and hard over what to say to you all this Pride season. As much as I would love to be all rainbows all the time, it can be hard to hold on to joy in a world that seems to want to take our joy every chance they get. I could write about all the horrible attacks and anti-LGBTQIA+ legislation that have happened this year, but we don’t need reminders of the real life horrors we face every day. I could repeat the tried and true adage of “It gets better!” But admittedly, some days that really doesn’t feel true.

I know what you’re thinking, what a bummer of a welcome to Pride season. And yes, I could be more cheerful and optimistic, but I’m more of a realist these days. And the real thing I have found that keeps me going even on the hardest, scariest, most dysphoric days is the family and community that I have found here in CU. I don’t think it’s an exaggeration when I say that getting involved with Pride Fest in 2021 saved my life. The people who came into my life, both just for the day or the ones who stuck around, truly showed me the power of queer community and how even just one affirming person or interaction can make an incredible impact on the love you choose to show yourself.

So that’s what I want my message to be to you, loved ones. Community, chosen family, support systems, whatever you choose to call it, is the life force of the LGBTQIA+ community. Even in the darkest most dangerous times of our history, queer folks have found solace and safety in creating their own spaces and gathering together. We haven’t always done it perfectly and sometimes we have been guilty of excluding those who need our support most, but we are learning. We are growing. And we are loving. This year we have chosen to honor our queer elders as the grand marshals of the parade. I encourage you to take the time to meet, get to know, and learn from those who paved the way for us and learned how to build a community when it seemed like an impossible feat. As you enjoy a drag show, shop for rainbow adorned swag, or expand your knowledge at one of our educational programs this week, take a look around at the community we have built and the power and safety of LGBTQIA+ people coming together in unity to celebrate, grieve, learn, and love.

You all are my chosen family. Even if I’ve never met you, know that I love you and I see you. You are valid, you are whole, you are worthy, and you are loved by your community. I sincerely hope that Pride Fest 2023 is exactly what you need it to be and that you find joy and peace and laughter and rainbows, and above all else, community.

VALENA “V” HEDIN (they/them) BOARD PRESIDENT
Uniting Pride of Champaign County
The history of pride.

Pride commemorates the Stonewall Uprising, which began in the early hours of June 28, 1969, after police raided the Stonewall Inn bar in New York City’s Greenwich Village neighborhood. This was a time when homosexuality was criminalized and people were often harassed by police or arrested for wearing “the dress of the opposite sex,” although no formal regulations against crossdressing, drag, or transgender people actually existed.

The Stonewall Inn was a popular place for members of the LGBTQ+ community to spend time, but because it was known to serve LGBTQ+ people, the New York State Liquor Authority refused to give the bar a liquor license. The police used this as an excuse to raid the bar, as they did with many gay bars at the time. On June 28th, patrons of the bar fought back against police harassment and violence. This was one of the first major displays of LGBTQ+ people fighting for their rights in the United States, and it inspired many more LGBTQ+ people to make themselves visible and advocate for their rights.

The following year, the first march was held to commemorate the Stonewall Uprising on the last Saturday of June 1970. It was called the Gay Liberation March at the time, and marches took place in New York City, Los Angeles, and Chicago. While all three marches started small, they grew to have thousands of participants as each march moved through their respective cities. Many believe that without this first march to commemorate Stonewall, today’s Pride would not exist. The next year these marches happened in more places, and more the year after that. Today, Pride events are held world-wide to celebrate where the fight for equal rights has made progress, to name where we still have work to do, and to give queer people and their loved ones a place to gather out and proud on the streets of the communities where they live.

Pride Fest has been in Champaign-Urbana since 2009. Although many places hold their celebrations in the month of June around the anniversary of the original Stonewall Uprising, these days many Pride programs are held outside that timeframe. In some cases it’s so smaller communities aren’t in direct competition with the programs in major metropolitan areas that draw people in from all over. In other cases, it’s about a community’s culture and situation. Here in CU, so many folks take time away from home to go on vacations or visit family in the summer, and of course the University community is largely gone from May to August. We host June Pride programming for those who are around, but then we host our much larger Fest in the Fall when the majority of our community can attend and participate fully.
2023 Grand Marshal:
Local Educators

Uniting Pride is pleased to honor our LGBTQ+ Elders as our 2023 CU Pride Fest Grand Marshals. As we face this new wave of anti-LGBTQ+ sentiment, aggression, legislation, and violence, it’s critically important we look to those who have been in this fight for decades. “Those who do not learn from history are doomed to repeat it”, they say. We have a wealth of knowledge, wisdom, experience, and heart within our elder community and we can and should honor it. We can and should learn from it. We can and should carry it with us as we continue to move forward.

IMPORTANT: we do not define “elder” based on age! A number on a birth certificate is not a measure of what this role truly is. What we are talking about here are those who have put in the years of work. Those who have tirelessly poured themselves into this community. Those who have been fighting. Those whose shoulders we stand on as we continue this fight.

We would not be here today without you, elders. And we simply cannot thank you enough for the incredibly hard work you’ve done to lead us to the progress we’ve made. We need to listen to you as we continue the work for even more progress to come, and properly acknowledge how you walked so we could run.

If you consider yourself an elder in our LGBTQ+ community, please come and march with us on Saturday, September 30th at 2:30pm in a place of honor in our Pride Parade. Please RSVP so we can be prepared for the participation level.

Pride Papermaking Workshop

In this workshop we will learn the western papermaking technique by pulling and pressing sheets of vibrant colored pulps that you might incorporate into future art projects, poetry and collage. We will have materials ready and you are encouraged to BYOP: papers, journal pages, photos and old documents to turn into pulp. The process of breaking down old notes and letters and transforming them into something new can be magical. Because the fibers have the potential to hold so much history, the medium works on its own to tell stories, disrupt or establish an archive, and ask questions about origin. This practice is integral to queer experiences of being and forever becoming. You’ll find that paper is also very forgiving, loose, and fun!

Living History with our ‘23 Pride Fest Grand Marshals: LGBTQ+ Elders

Join us at Red Herring to enjoy some food and community. Some of our LGBTQ+ elder 23 Pride Fest Grand Marshals have been invited to sit at stations around the space and be ready to tell their stories, answer questions, and engage across generations to preserve this deeply important component of queer life. Before the internet, the only way for younger queer folks to learn was to sit with our Elders and listen. And while we’re thrilled that so many now have access to stories we never had before, we believe the human component remains vital to our community’s health and wellbeing. So come take this irl moment to meet some amazing individuals whose shoulders we stand on today and thank them for the work they’ve done and the impact they’ve had on all of us.

A screening of the PBS documentary, “The Stonewall Uprising” will follow this event so the learning and community can continue!

Elders who will be with us this evening include: Doug Barnes, Jerry Carden, Ceduxion Carrington (Marcus Wilder) Danielle Chynoweth, Robert Michael Doyle, Tim Hutchison, Kimberlie Kranich, Sophie Michaels, Mona Monclair (Damon Rule), Kathie Spegal, and Lynn Sprout.

Resist Erasure Exhibit
Opening Reception

The McKinley Foundation's Artists' Alley presents a new juried art show: "Resist Erasure". This is a show of student art work created with the theme in mind. "Resist Erasure" is meant to inspire students to respond to the current political climate toward LGBTQIA2S+ students and young adults: facing limiting legislation, book bans, harassment and more, students say they are being “erased” from the U.S. education system. Sing-A-Long Screening - “Whitney Houston: I Wanna Dance With Somebody”

We know her, we love her, and we miss her! This movie honors the late, great Whitney Houston in all her glory. But even better, at THIS showing you can belt along with all your favorite Whitney hits! Yes, this is a SING-A-LONG!

We've chosen this film to be part of Pride Fest because of the touching and nuanced way in which it deals with her same-gender romantic relationship with her longtime friend and manager, Robyn Crawford. It addresses Whitney's struggles to exist in this world at that time and how she felt like she couldn't be fully who she was without too big a cost. That her full story can be told now is a gift to her legacy and those of us who have loved her and her work for so long.

We're grateful for the partnership on this program from The Virginia Theatre, Mix 94.5 Throwback Thursdays, the UIUC Women's Resource Center, and the UIUC Bruce D. Nesbitt African American Cultural Center. Please join us to celebrate and sing!
